Comments for Public Posting: I support the work that Best Friends Animal Society has done to improve the outcomes and welfare of Los Angeles' pets, and the proposed $14 million commitment from BFAS and ASPCA over three years to continue and to expand this lifesaving work. The mayor's increasing budget cuts are fatal for the animals of Los Angeles and we need the help and oversight of organizations that have a proven track record of increasing adoption rates and reducing pet populations with successful spay and neuter programs instead of resorting to euthanasia.
