Comments for Public Posting: I support councilmember Yasbel Jurado's resolution opposing the Arroyo Seco Water Reuse project. San Pascual Park is a vibrant, flourishing ecosystem, with double the average tree coverage for Los Angeles. It's an essential habitat for birds, turtles, insects, fish, and a myriad of other wildlife. Additionally, it is home to sacred burial grounds belonging to the Kizh Nation, who have been stewards of this land since time immemorial. I greatly appreciate councilmember Jurado's resolution, and her commitment to standing up against a project that would completely destroy one of the most beautiful parts of Los Angeles. I urge the City of Los Angeles to take legal action to protect San Pascual park and ensure that our wildlands remain protected for today's generations and future generations. Please support this resolution and protect our natural ecosystems.

Comments for Public Posting: Please support Jurado's proposal to protect San Pasqual park from destruction! LA already has too few parks for the population; and that is especially true on the East side. Tell Pasadena and South Pasadena to use their own water for developments, especially high water use developments such as golf courses. And to stop driving around LA parks looking for sources of water to steal!

Comments for Public Posting: I fully support CD 14 Ysabel Jurado resolution opposing the Arroyo Seco Water Reuse Project. this park must be saved! water cleanup is important but it must be done right, not at the cost of environmental destruction, unearthing ancient burials, and not respecting community's wishes, especially in light of the fact that this project is receiving public funds and has not met the requirements to engage with community, provide an equitable project, not harm the environment. additionally the Kizh Nation is opposed to this project since it is located on their historical lands.
