

Communication from Public

Name: Anonymous

Date Submitted: 09/01/2026 06:24 AM

Council File No: 26-1199

Comments for Public Posting: Dear Members of the Los Angeles City Council: I am writing regarding the motion introduced by Councilmember Monica Rodriguez. I would like to bring to your attention concerns I have heard about MyVoiceLA and the way workplace complaints are handled. MyVoiceLA was designed to allow current and former city employees to report workplace issues. However, some employees have expressed concerns that the system is not functioning as intended. Inadequate staffing within the Personnel Department's Division of Workplace Equity may be contributing to these difficulties. Another serious concern is the fear of retaliation by management. Employees may fear losing their jobs, being denied promotions, experiencing ostracism, receiving unequal workloads, being subjected to excessive micromanagement, or facing other negative consequences for reporting workplace concerns. The City Council should examine staffing levels within the Personnel Department and identify ways to improve the complaint process. Ensuring that employees can report concerns safely and receive timely, impartial responses will help the city address workplace safety, health, and equity issues across all departments. Thank you for your attention to this important matter. Sincerely, City Employee, Personnel

Communication from Public

Name: Anonymous

Date Submitted: 09/01/2026 06:26 AM

Council File No: 26-1199

Comments for Public Posting: Dear Members of the Los Angeles City Council: I am writing regarding the motion introduced by Councilmember Monica Rodriguez. I would like to bring to your attention concerns I have heard about MyVoiceLA and the way workplace complaints are handled. MyVoiceLA was designed to allow current and former city employees to report workplace issues. However, some employees have expressed concerns that the system is not functioning as intended. Inadequate staffing within the Personnel Department's Division of Workplace Equity may be contributing to these difficulties. Another serious concern is the fear of retaliation by management. Employees may fear losing their jobs, being denied promotions, experiencing ostracism, receiving unequal workloads, being subjected to excessive micromanagement, or facing other negative consequences for reporting workplace concerns. The City Council should examine staffing levels within the Personnel Department and identify ways to improve the complaint process. Ensuring that employees can report concerns safely and receive timely, impartial responses will help the city address workplace safety, health, and equity issues across all departments. Thank you for your attention to this important matter. Sincerely, City Employee